DR. KEN RUTHERFORD

50 YEARS AFTER THE VIETNAM WAR

Dr. Ken Rutherford, JMU Professor of Political Science, commemorates the fifty-year anniversary of the end of the Vietnam War, exploring the war's repercussions to the present day, from its deadly legacy of explosives contamination that continues to threaten civilians and livelihoods, post-conflict lessons learned, and Dr. Rutherford's personal reflections on meeting and working with survivors of the war's deadly legacy.
