

GLOBAL HUMANITARIAN WEEK @ JAMES MADISON UNIVERSITY

ETHICS AFTER WAR

FACULTY PANEL

MONDAY, MARCH 31
5:00-6:30 PM
BURRUS HALL 0031

THE ETHICS OF ENDING WARS & BUILDING PEACE

JMU's Department of Political Science hosts a faculty panel: The Ethics of Ending Wars and Building Peace with Dr. Mirwais Balkhi from the Institute of International Education-Scholar Research Fund; Dr. Kerry Crawford, Professor of Political Science at JMU; and Dr. John Hulse, Professor of Political Science at JMU.

DR. KEN RUTHERFORD

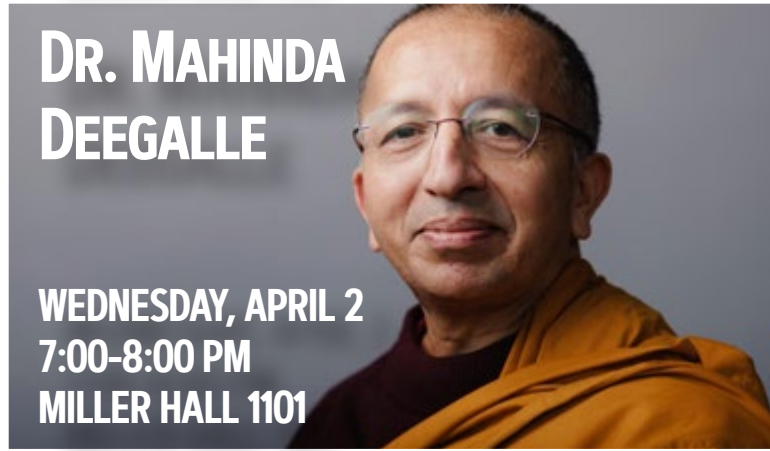

TUESDAY, APRIL 1
7:00-8:00 PM
MILLER HALL 1101

50 YEARS AFTER THE VIETNAM WAR

Dr. Ken Rutherford, JMU Professor of Political Science, commemorates the fifty-year anniversary of the end of the Vietnam War, exploring the war's repercussions to the present day, from its deadly legacy of explosives contamination that continues to threaten civilians and livelihoods, post-conflict lessons learned, and Dr. Rutherford's personal reflections on meeting and working with survivors of the war's deadly legacy.

DR. MAHINDA DEEGALLE

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2
7:00-8:00 PM
MILLER HALL 1101

COLLATERAL DAMAGE OF WAR

JMU's Ethical Reasoning in Action welcomes Dr. Mahinda Deegalle from Bath Spa University in the United Kingdom whose expertise centers on the ethics of war, violence, and conflict in Buddhist societies in South and Southeast Asia, and "collateral damage" in relation to international humanitarian law.

Sponsored by:

Learn more
jmu.edu/cisr