

Becky Holmes, CPA CIA

Director, Audit & Management Services
James Madison University

Becky graduated from Eastern Mennonite University with degrees in Computer Science and Accounting, and worked in regional public accounting firms for four years before beginning her internal audit career at JMU in 1987 as a staff auditor. In 2000, she left JMU and started an internal audit function at NTELOS, a publicly traded telecommunications company. She completed an Master of Arts degree in Technical and Scientific Communication and returned to JMU internal audit in late 2004. In 2010, she became Director of Audit and Management Services. Becky is a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) and a Certified Internal Auditor (CIA). She currently chairs the JMU Compliance Committee and serves on the JMU Policy Committee, among others. As an active musician, she plays piano for a church in Staunton and rings with the Mosaic Handbell Ensemble. Becky has two “successfully-launched” daughters and lives in Harrisonburg with her husband Mike and a rescued poodle-mix named Jack. Her favorite outdoor activities are gardening and white-water rafting.
