① In MyMadison

(1) Click on the Student tab, (3) Click on Student Center button

② As you enter your addresses:

- Address line 1: building number and street name
- Address line 2: apartment number
- Example:

1191 Devon Ln,
Apt. 123

- County Vs. County

The 'Addresses' section provides instructions on how to enter address information. It states that accurate address information is crucial for emergencies and that students with only one address can use the same address for both local and home. It also explains how to handle PO boxes. Below the text is a 'View PO Box and Combo' link and an 'Address FAQs' link. A table lists existing addresses with their types, full addresses, and 'Edit' buttons. A purple arrow points from the 'Edit' button for the 'Local = Harrisonburg' address to the 'Edit Address' form in the adjacent screenshot.
