[F_PRO7] The following statements describe four personal philosophies of higher education. Choose the one statement that most accurately portrays your own point of view.

- A) Education is viewed essentially as preparation for an occupational future. College is seen primarily to obtain training for a chosen career.
- B) Extracurricular activities, parties, athletics, social life, friendships and loyalty to college traditions are viewed as important and scholarly endeavors are less important though not ignored.
- C) The greatest emphasis is on the scholarly pursuit of knowledge and understanding. Involvement in course work or independent study beyond the minimum is sought. Social life and organized activities are relatively unimportant.
- D) Emphasis is placed on ideas, art forms and individuality. There is often either a conscious rejection of commonly held value orientations or a search for meaning in one's own life.
